

Corbett's Conundrums

14th April

In a sale the normal selling price of a jumper is reduced by 20%.

The shop owner still makes 4% profit above the price she paid for it.

What percentage profit would be made if the jumper was sold at the normal selling price?

